COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT OPPORTUNITIES

ENGAGED RESEARCH OPPORTUNITIES

IMAGINE TENNESSEE

Imagine Tennessee is a pilot umbrella initiative to spotlight UT’s community engagement and outreach efforts that help address real world issues. Imagine Tennessee connects, equips, and elevates community-university partnerships to advance common goals for the good of the local community and the state. Imagine Tennessee is not a grant program; however, projects have been very successful in securing internal and external funding ($175,000 to date).

ORE GRANTS

UT’s Office of Research and Engagement drives the campus research enterprise by providing technical expertise in proposal development, faculty development, sponsored programs administration and compliance requirements. The office assists with identifying external funding opportunities and administering internal funding programs. It is also responsible for managing Cayuse SP, the electronic research administration system.

DIVISION OF DIVERSITY & ENGAGEMENT CHALLENGE GRANT

The Division of Diversity and Engagement (DDE) has an open call for proposals for the Challenge Grant. This funding opportunity is available for service and community engaged research projects that focus on diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI), racial injustice, systemic racism, class, human dignity, or social justice. Individual and team projects are acceptable.
